At 2 o'clock this afternoon Acting Fire Chief Reilly announced that the search for the dead in the ruins was completed and that no more bodies remained there.

Work was at once stopped and the long clearing out the debris were discharged.

The Department of Public Works will conthue its work of clearing the debris from the street, but the task of cleaning out what debris remains in the ruins of the Taylor Building must be done by the owners of the property.

Chief Reilly said to an Eventus World reporter that the heaps remaining in the cellars had been formed by the removal of he was positive that there could be no other bodies hidden under them.

"I am simply here as a spectator now," he added. "Our work is done, and as well done as it could be under the circumstances."

A Great Day for the Outsiders at Jerome Park.

SIMMS WILL RIDE DAGONET,

Dave Campbell Succeeds Frank Bray as Hough Bros.' Trainer.

The bookmakers had another inning at Je ome Park yesterday and reaped a rich harrest, for five out of six races went to outsiders The public and talent fared very badly, indeed, not so much from their lack of judgment, as from the speedy reversal of form, which is phenomenal and bewilders the oldest turf foi-

Reckon, in the first race, carried a barrel of money, but was out of condition, as was plainly seen before the race, but the talent thought she was good enough to win. Charles Post, the winner, was well backed and made all of the running, winning well in hand. Emma Primrose, ridden by Miller with rare indepent, rated along in fifth position until well in the stretch, when she came through like a thunder bolt and won the Produc Stakes from Mr. Withers's pair.

This stakes has so long been won by Mr. Withers that it is almost looked upon as belonging to him before the race is run, and the public, aware of this fact, placed their money accordingly, only to lose it.

The talent figured that the Monmouth Handicap lay between Raceland and Russell, but again their good thing went wrong, for Banquet won, with Peter second. Peter was given out as a good thing, and came very near ouiling it off. The talent got a part of their money back in the next, for Hamilton won easily.

Bookmaker McDonald's Chaos, who could not run enough to keep himself warm the other day, jumped out yesterday and beat a good field, while that speedy Major Domo, who was second in the Suburban, could not raise a gallon, and finished absolutely last. This reversal of form is inexplicable.

The last race went to Kingstock, another rank outsider, thus closing one of the worst days of the season for people who play flores on their form.

F. C. McLewee did not notify the Associati that Heligate was scratched until after the betting had been going on for some time. His negligence cost him #250.

Socker George Childs, who was taken to the Flatbush Insane Asylum resterday from a boarding house in Williamsburg, having be-come insane because the landlady's filect, with whom he was in love, broke off, the en-gagement on account of his having no em-ployment, originally came from Colorado.

is there such a thing as the Disabled Jonkey Fund? It does not look as if there was. When Jockey Monahan was killed at Ferome Fark the Monmouth Park Association agreed to pay the expenses of the funeral out of this Fund. The bill. $339.40, was presented to Mr. Withers by Undertaker Riley yesterday, but payment was refused. Mr. M. F. Dwyer, who told Riley to give the boy a decent burial and that if the Association did not pay for it he would, paid the bill. would, paid the bill.

Mr. John Hunter has secured th Jockey Sims to ride Dagonet in the Futurity. Sims will get $5,000 if he wins.

Thomas Hay, a stable boy, who had his leg broken and skull fractured from a fall white exercising one of Foxhall Keene's horses, is dying at the Manhattan Hospital. Tea Tray, who it was thought was about ready for a race, has gone lame again and will have to be retired for some time.

Hough Brothers, owners of the Schuylkili Stables, have engaged Dave Campbell, who until recently was trainer for Wolcott & Campbell, to succeed Frank Bray as trainer. If Dave has his own way it will not be long before the stable will be earning brackets. Bray resigned as trainer last Monday.

Taylor rode a good race on Chaos rester-day, but his performance on Necromancy colt was nothing to be proud of.

Queenston might have been nearer the front at the anish of the first race yesterday if the boy Midgley could have held her steady. She swerved all over the track in the atretch. Kingstock also swerved, but Doggett soon straightened him out again.

In the fifth race at Garfield Park, Chicago, yesterday the Misses ran one, two, three, Miss Bulwark won, with Miss Sent second and Miss Peck third.

CROWD AT THE PIRE-LINES.

His attention was attracted by a shrill squealing and squeaking coming from the slight excavation where the bodies lay. Approaching the spot, he was horrified to see a lozen or more big rats scrambling about over exposed portions of the lifeless bodies, and attacking them voraclously.

He setzed a piece of board and slashed right and left among the repulsive creatures, and succeeded in killing several of the rodents. The rest scampered away and hid themselves in holes in the wall.

CRIMMINS WITHDRAWS HIS MEN. Contractor Thomas E. Crimmins, who has and 125 men at work delving in the ruins, withdrew his whole force at 11 o'clock this morning, saying he was convinced there was iot a single body remaining in the debris. He could not explain what had become of the scores of persons who are still reported missing. WHAT CRIMBINS SAYS. Shortly after body 61 was recovered Contractor Crimmins, who was until then in

NO. 50 WORE A BLUE-STRIPED SHIRT. The fifty-ninth body, which was recovered at 7.45 a. M., was also taken from No. 74. It seemed to be that of a man about forty-five years old and weighing about 150 pounds, with a sandy mustache. He wore a cambric shirt with wide cross wise stripes of blue, and had a full set of false teeth for both upper and lower jaw.

Like all the other bodies found in the res faurant cellar it was very badly mutilated and decomposed. NO. 00 WAS SUFFOCATED. The sixtleth body, that of a man, was taken out of the ruins of No. 70 at 8 o'clock. It was not much burned, but decomposition had set in and it was very much swollen. From its appearance Dr. Donlin, who had then taken Dr. Page's place, thought that death had been caused by suffocation. A number of articles were found upon the body, which will undoubtedly lead to its iden
